

STRUCK BY A CAR

Quinn Denman Had Narrow Escape From Death.

While Pinned Under the Car His Little Son Approached Through Curiosity and Was Horrified at the Sight. Taken to Hospital Where He Will Recover.

Quinn Denman, aged about 40 years, was badly hurt about 4:45 o'clock Wednesday evening near the artificial ice plant, in North Newark. Denman is a laborer and was employed by Contractor David Taylor, working on North Third street. He lives in rooms in the Thibbs House block with his son Charles, aged 14.

After stopping work he started for home, walking down the B. & O. tracks. A south bound freight came along and Denman stepped from the track to let it pass. He did not notice that yard engine 1100 was doing some switching and had just "kicked" a cut of cars on the track where he was standing. The unfortunate man was run down and badly injured. He was pinned between the spring plank and truck bolster in such a manner that it was necessary to jack up the car to rescue him from his perilous position, which was done by Jacob Veling and Chris Jones.

The injured man was taken to the city hospital in Bowers and Bradley's ambulance, and Drs. C. F. Legg and M. H. Koehler were summoned. They found that the right arm was broken near the shoulder, several severe gashes cut in the head on the left side, several scalp wounds and numerous bruises.

The injured man's son Charles, aged 14, who works at the Everett glass plant, was starting home from work, and noticed a crowd at the ice plant ran to see what was the matter, only to see that his father was the victim of the accident. He followed him to the hospital, and his grief was pitiable.

The kind hearted nurses gave the little fellow his supper, and allowed him to stay all night in the room where his father lay, as he did not know where to go.

This morning Mr. Denman was resting very well, although very sore and stiff from the injuries sustained.

HALLOWE'EN AFFAIR.

It is Now Altogether Probable That the Boys Who Were Expelled or Suspended Will all be Reinstated—Faculty Names the Conditions Which Seem Acceptable.

Granville, O., Nov. 14.—That the three students who were expelled and the three who were suspended for the rest of the school year will be reinstated by the Denison university faculty there is now little doubt.

It was learned today that at a meeting of the College faculty yesterday afternoon, the professors voted to instruct the Dean of the faculty, Prof. J. L. Gilpatrick, to inform Messrs. Perkins and McKibben that the faculty will rescind its action of November 9, whereby Conley, Powers, and Jones were expelled, Flory, VanVoorhis and Davis suspended, and Field and Gallagher fined, on condition that on or before Friday, Nov. 15, at noon, there be placed in the Dean's hands a statement signed by all the students who participated in the depredations of Halloween, acknowledging their guilt, apologizing for their actions promising not to be connected with such disgraceful acts in the future and expressing their willingness to bear their just share of the punishment, "together with the sum of $235 to pay for damages."

Up to this afternoon there are 31 signatures to the paper. Now that the faculty has made clear its intention there is little doubt that the other names will be secured and thus put an end to this unpleasant chapter in the school's history.

THOROUGHLY FUMIGATED.

The second and third floors of the building at the corner of Fourth and Church streets have been thoroughly fumigated and all danger of smallpox contagion there is over.

THOUSANDS

Of Policy Holders Anxious as To the Condition of the American Insurance Union.

Columbus, O., Nov. 14.—The Insurance Department of the state is almost deluged with letters from policy holders of the American Insurance Union, who want to ascertain the financial condition of the company.

The flood of letters was precipitated by the arrest of John M. Mulford, Secretary, on embezzlement and perjury charges. The department is now working on the books of the company. The revised report, covering business to September 8, will be supplemented by a report to November 12.

The first report showed a deficiency of $11,000, and it was explained that this would be covered by November and December assessments. Now it is said by reason of the impending actions the company will not be able to realize on all the assessments. The supplemental examination by the insurance department will be completed today.

The Commissioner says if he finds that the company is in bad shape he will close it up immediately. The 8,000 policy holders of the American Insurance Union mostly are residents of Ohio, Pennsylvania and Michigan.

Mr. Hepburn is Chairman of the House committee on interstate and foreign commerce, and Mr. Sherman is also upon the same important committee.

DAN HEFFLEY

Writes to His Father From Orange Free State South Africa.

Al. Heffley, B. & O. engineer received a letter from his son, D. A. Heffley, who has been in the Orange Free State, South Africa for the past year. The following are the contents in part under date of October 6, 1901.

Dear Father:—I received your letter today, and was very glad to hear from you. Well, there is nothing startling in old Newark, and I am glad to hear that everyone is well. My time will be up in a few days, then I will receive my discharge. I don't like this country and am going to get out of it as quickly as possible. Everybody over here including myself has a "nigger" servant who will work for one pound a month, about five dollars in U. S. money) take care of my horse, cook for me and wash my clothes. No white men work here. "niggers" do all the work. It is a cinch, but a miserable place to live in. I haven't seen a tree in the Orange Free State, and I don't think anyone else ever did. As soon as I receive my discharge I will go to Cape Town.

The following is written under the date of Oct. 13, from Cape Town:

Dear Father:—I will write a few lines to let you know my plans. I am now discharged and expect to leave soon. There is a ship leaving on Oct. 23, and I am going to take passage on her. Summer is now beginning, and the weather is getting very hot. I went to the Cape Town Theatre and saw the "Sign of the Cross" played by an American Company. It was O. K. These Africans appear to be stage struck, as the actors received baskets of flowers.

With love to all.

I remain your loving Son,

DAN.

ARREST

TO BE MADE IN A VERY FEW HOURS.

MYSTERY AS YET SURROUNDS THE DOUBLE MURDER

OF WOMAN AT EVANSVILLE, IND.

Possible Murder of Nora Kifer Was Committed by Keith Who Hangs Friday.

Evansville, Ind., Nov. 14.—"I shall probably make an arrest in 24 hours of the murderer of Mrs. Georgia Bailey or Lena Renner," said Chief of Police Houke today. Houk is the man who arrested Joseph D. Keith for the murder of Nora Kifer and he is a shrewd officer. Houke says the Renner girl was dead hours before Mrs. Bailey and while not committing intimates that his belief is that both were done to death by the same hands. An Evansville officer is now in St. Louis looking for a traveling nursery salesman who was known to have been on terms of intimacy with Mrs. Bailey and was very jealous of her.

Coroner John P. Walker is today examining witnesses behind closed doors. He says he has almost evidence enough to justify the arrest of a local man for the murder of the Renner girl. He says that it is the third and perhaps the fourth crime committed by the same man. Three years ago Mrs. Mary Anne Stroke was found dead in the same place as the Renner girl, strangled by waxed shoemaker's thread. Last May a comely mulatto girl was strangled to death in a vacant barn. Walker refused to say whether the two recent crimes were committed by the same person, but it is believed at least the three mentioned are the work of Jack the Strangler, constituted mentally as was Jack the Ripper.

Mystery still surrounds the murder of Lena Renner and Georgia Bailey, whose dead bodies were found by the roadside near this city Tuesday. These two crimes have led many to believe that the murder of Nora Kifer, for whose death Joseph D. Keith is to hang at Michigan City tomorrow, might have been committed by some one else than Keith. The Kifer girl associated with many men and had threatened to make trouble for Keith as well as other men. In fact, she was engaged to marry a man named Clark and at the final moment refused to become his wife. Shortly after the disappearance of Nora Kifer, letters were sent to Eberfield purporting to come from her saying she was going to Chicago. Now people believe there is a "Jack the Ripper" in the city and argue that it is probable that Nora Kifer met her death at his hands. A year before Nora's death, Mrs. Stork was murdered by being choked to death and her body thrown by the roadside. The four murders in a similar manner, mystify the police.

Indianapolis, Nov. 14.—Jos. Keith condemned for the murder of Nora Kiefer, with whom he was intimate, has made an appeal to the Governor for clemency. Deserted by his family and friends, he has declared himself innocent and convicted on perjury testimony. No word has come from the Governor. Keith will die on the gallows tomorrow.

HIS OFFER

Of $500 To Any Woman Who Would Become His Wife Quickly Accepted.

Franklin, Tenn., Nov. 14.—Some weeks ago W. C. Marbre, a farmer living in the First District, announced that he would legally sign $500 to any lady who would sign her name as Mrs. W. C. Marbre. The offer was circulated, and a few days ago he received a dainty note from a Dickson county woman. He arranged a meeting with the writer of the note. A mutual good impression was made. The lady proved to be Mrs. Sadie Hornbeck, and after a few preliminaries she accepted her suit, and presumably the $500, and the wedding ceremony has just taken place.

XENIA "DRY."

Special Cars May Be Run to Dayton Saturday Nights Carrying People From Xenia.

Xenia, O., Nov. 14.—The City Council has passed the ordinance which, after the 27th of this month, will make Xenia the largest "dry" town in the state.

The agitation for a dry town started in this city last summer after two people had been killed in one week by too much drink, so it was claimed by the "antis", and, upon being agitated by the local papers, was finally submitted to a vote and carried for the "drys" by almost two to one.

It is stated that had the brewers from out of town come to the aid of the local saloons the "dry" ordinance could have been defeated, owing to the fact that a sufficient number of the Councilmen were either unfavorable to it or would have yielded to a little influence, but it is claimed by local saloonists that the Dayton brewers positively refused to render any assistance whatever, saying that they would bring all the saloon trade direct to Dayton if Xenia went dry, and in order to accomplish this end would run special cars at the lowest possible fare from this city to Dayton on Saturday nights, and carry hundreds of factory people out of Xenia.

The probable effect upon the ordinance upon the business interests of this city is a question which will be watched by the entire state, as the nature of temperance agitation depends largely upon the outcome of the local situation.

TEST WELL

To Be Drilled by the Logan Oil and Gas Company Near Fredericktown.

Fredericktown, Nov. 13.—The Logan Oil and Gas company, which has been leasing land around here for some time, has selected a location for its first well, which is on the farm of Thomas Frazier, northwest of town in the Owl creek bottom lands. The timber for the derrick is on the ground and four workmen are busy at work building it. Last Friday thirteen pieces of casing, about 250 feet, were brought here from Utica and delivered on the ground. On the same day the engine, which will operate the machinery, was brought here from Homer. If everything works favorably it is expected that the work of drilling will be commenced in about two weeks.

COURT DECISIONS

City Wins in Walnut Street Case—Court Dismisses Petition of Railroad Against Buckeye Lake Regarding Pine Street Crossing—Court Adjourns Till November 25.

A case involving considerable interest to the people residing on South Second street and Walnut street, in this city, was disposed of by the Common Pleas Court this morning. This was the case of the Baltimore & Ohio and Pan Handle Railroad companies regarding their rights to lay additional tracks on Walnut street and raising the grade of their tracks crossing Second street, in which the city obtained a temporary injunction some time ago. The case was decided by Judge Jones in favor of the city and the injunction was made perpetual. The railroad companies are enjoined from laying additional tracks on Walnut street and from raising the grade of the crossing on Second Street, and are ordered to lower the tracks to the same grade they were at the time Second street was paved, which means that they must be lowered about seven and half inches.

City Solicitor P. B. Smythe and Frank Bolton were the attorneys for the city, and Kibler & Kibler for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company and Attorney Dunbar, of Steubenville appeared for the Pan Handle Company.

Columbus, O., Nov. 14.—The grand stand at the driving park was totally destroyed by fire this morning at 2:45 o'clock. The grandstand is a very large one, capable of seating over 5000 people, and was valued at $10,000.

A RARE STELLAR SPECTACLE.

Have you noticed the beautiful spectacle in the western sky during the early hours of the evening? The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, calling its readers' attention to it, says: "Three brilliant planets—Venus, Jupiter and Saturn—are almost in conjunction. Venus, which is rapidly overtaking Jupiter and Saturn, will pass the former on November 17 and the latter on November 18. Jupiter and Saturn will then be about one degree apart, with Venus about three degrees south of them. Venus is, of course, the most brilliant of the three, because Jupiter is seven times as far away and Saturn is twice the distance of Jupiter. You should feast your eyes on this stellar combination for two reasons—because it is surpassingly beautiful and because you will not see it again for 1,200 years."

AN EXTRAVAGANT PROGRAM.

Forty new ships for the navy at a cost of $40,000,000—such according to the New York World, is the administration's semi-official announced program.

With not a single power in Europe, except England, possessing or building a fleet or part of a fleet that could carry coal enough to maintain itself on this side of the Atlantic, with England sending hostages in the form of capital by every steamer and having Canada as a permanent hostage, we are providing ourselves with a full set of gleaming teeth to show to a world that could not attack us if it would and would not if it could.

Why? Is this a part of the cost of our every way unprofitable Asiatic adventure?

The Terrapin Disease.

The terrapin is thought to have much influence in causing sickness, and the terrapin disease is either a rheumatic affliction about the chest and ribs or possibly some pulmonary trouble. The association of the terrapin with diseases in this portion of the body doubtless originates from the fact that the ribs of the terrapin are not free, as in the case of most of the higher animals, but are united into one piece.

An Indian who was ill applied for relief to a shaman and was asked, "Did you not when a boy tie strings to the terrapin's tail and worry the creature?" The patient admitted that he did.

"Well," said the medicine man, "that is what is the matter. It is the terrapin's turn now, and the terrapin is paying off old scores. You have the terrapin sickness, and all your ribs have grown together and to your breast-bone."

The shaman administered the proper remedy prescribed in such cases—I forget what it was—and the man thought he was cured.

Doing His Best.

In the early morning I went to the postoffice in an Alabama town to inquire for mail, but found I was half an hour too early. I was walking away when the colored janitor who was sweeping out called to me and asked:

"Was yo' procrastinatin' around yere arter yo' mail, sah?"

"Yes, but I see I'm too early."

"Yes, sah, too early. An' was yo' a stranger in dis town?"

"Yes."

"An' hain't yo' no one to talk to?"

"No."

"Den, sah, if yo' don't keer to eliminate about de street for half an hour yo' can stop right yere. An' I'll do my best to considerate de reciprocity of de situashun an' make yo' feel to home."

A Civil Word.

A French king once said: "If a civil word or two will make a man happy, he must be a churl indeed who would not give them to him." If this feeling were acted on, how much happier the world would be! We may say of this kindly temper that it is like lighting another man's candle by one's own, which loses none of its light by what the other gains.

A BUDDING HUMORIST.

Merry Memories of a First Meeting With Artemus Ward.

On going into the Cleveland Plain Dealer editorial rooms one morning I saw a new man, who was introduced to me as Mr. Browne.

He was young, cheerful in manner, tall and slender, not quite up to date in style of dress, yet by no means shabby. His hair was flaxen and very straight; his nose, the prominent feature of his face, was Romanesque—quite violently so—and with a leaning to the left. His eyes were blue gray, with a twinkle in them; his mouth seemed so given to a merry laugh, so much in motion, that it was difficult to describe.

It seemed as though bubbling in him was a lot of happiness which he made no effort to conceal or hold back. When we were introduced, he was sitting at his table writing. He gave his leg a smart slap, arose, shook hands with me and said he was glad to meet me. I believed him, for he looked glad all the time. You could not look at him but he would laugh. He laughed as he sat at his table writing. When he had written a thing which pleased him, he would slap his leg and laugh.

I noticed that George Hoyt and James Brokenshire at their tables were pleased with his merriment and indulged in broad smiles. As I bade him and the others good morning he said, "Come again, me liege." I thanked him, said I would and went my way, thinking what a funny fellow he was.

Within a month thereafter appeared in the columns of The Plain Dealer a funny letter signed "Artemus Ward." The writer said he was in the show business, had a trained kangaroo, "a most amousin' little cuss," some "snails" and a collection of wax figures, which he called a "great moral show." As he was coming to Cleveland to exhibit, he made a proposition to the proprietor that they "scratch each other's backs"—the publisher to write up the show vigorously and the showman to have the handbills printed at his office and give him free tickets for all his family. So I found my young friend of the gurgles and bay colored hair to be an embryo humorist just bursting into bloom. Artemus, as from that time he was best known, soon had a city full of friends, myself and family among them.—James F. Ryder in Century Magazine.

FLOWER AND TREE.

Never buy a plant in bloom.
Never water plants in flower from above.

In planting out an orchard do not plant more than can be manured and cared for well.

A yard or lawn always looks barren without some choice ornamental trees and shrubs. On this account every lawn should contain a few choice specimens of these ornamental trees.

Scale insects on plants, such as the oleanders, the fragrant olive, roses, etc., are among the most difficult pests to overcome. A mixture of white hellebore powder with dissolved soap rubbed in is a good remedy.

Keeping all young trees carefully staked leads to the formation of clean, straight stems. These in their turn are conducive to the growth of large, healthy, fruitful heads. One stout stake should be placed by each tree when it is planted.

Crocus must be planted in October to insure spring blooms. It makes a fine appearance if thickly planted upon a lawn. Make a cut with a spade three or four inches deep in the soil, tuck in a couple of bulbs and press the sod back into place with the foot.

Habits of Seals.

The habits of seals are very interesting. The very young seal is helpless in the water until he is taught by his mother to swim. She takes him into the water daily on her fin and dumps him in, and when he gets tired of floundering about places him on her fin again and returns to her camp. When the young seals are well grown, they suddenly disappear with their mothers and the bull seals. No one knows where they go, and their return is equally as sudden as their departure. The bulls are the first to put in an appearance at the camping ground. When they arrive, they commence at once to prepare a camp for their mates, which they stake off, and for which they fight until they die. In the meantime the female seals remain quite a distance from land, floating lazily on the water and seemingly having a good time.

Bound to Sound Their "H."

The English middle classes have had so much fun poked at them for dropping the letter "h" and for carrying it forward and placing it where it should not be, possibly thus to obey the laws of compensation, that they have become sensitive on the subject, and many aspirate the "h" with double force when the letter should be aspirated. Instead of saying "before him," as Americans do, with a light aspiration, they will say "before him," taking a full and deep breath when they utter the second word, shooting it out as if it came from a popgun. Dropping the "h" is not new for ordinary English folk. It is a new trick to aspirate it with double the force required.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Oyster Shells.

One thousand bushels of shucked oysters leave about 1,100 bushels of shells, which accumulate in great heaps about the shucking houses. The oyster shells landed on the shores of Maryland during the last ninety years have been reckoned at 12,000,000 tons—a quantity twice sufficient to overload and sink every sailing vessel, steam vessel, barge and crabboat in America.

A FISHING FICTION.

THE "MAGIC EYE" OF THE SAULT STE. MARIE INDIANS.

An Old Guide's Explanation of the Indian Whitefish Hunter's Method of Getting His Glittering Catch From Under the Rapids.

"The first time I fished in the Sault Ste. Marie rapids," said a well known Lake Keuka sportsman, "I landed in an hour twenty-one brook trout that weighed forty-five pounds; so I was ready and willing to believe anything I heard or read about the possibilities of those waters or the astounding things that men who fished in them were able to do."

"Consequently I believed what they told me about the marvelous feats the Indian fishermen of the Sault Ste. Marie could perform in the way of netting whitefish. Few who have toured the great lakes have not heard of those same feats, witnessed them and, of course, could do nothing but go away believing that they were all they seemed to be."

"Particularly will they marvel, as I did, at the Indian whitefish fisherman's magic eye with which he seems to look down through ten feet or more of foaming, rushing water and see whitefish that to the white man's eye would be invisible five inches beneath the surface. It would have been strange if I had not marveled at it, having witnessed more than once manifestations of its alleged power. That was before I talked with old Guide Garron."

"The astounding feats of the Indian whitefish netters of the Sault Ste. Marie, that the guidebooks and the hotel keepers and steamboatmen insist on telling tourists about are performed by two Indians in a canoe. One occupies the stern and manipulates the paddle to keep the canoe's head pointed up stream. The Indian in the bow, standing upright, uses a pole to aid in propelling the canoe or in keeping it steady."

"Lying ready to his hand is a dip net four feet in diameter, fastened to the end of a pole perhaps fifteen feet long. The fishing is done at the foot of the rapids, where the water boils and tumbles furiously. With his pole the Indian in the bow keeps the boat moving about in the rapids and gazes constantly into the water, which is often ten feet or more deep."

"Suddenly the Indian in the bow will seize the net handle with one hand, never ceasing to manipulate the canoe with his pole in the other nor for an instant removing his staring gaze from the water. The net is not more than in his hand before he has plunged it perhaps ten feet distant from the boat, thrusting it at the same instant to the bottom. Then he gives it a peculiar twist, draws it up and, surrendering the care of the canoe for the moment to the Indian with the paddle, he draws the net up, never without from three to half a dozen glittering whitefish in it, frequently weighing five pounds each."

"The wondering spectator, seeing nothing but the boiling water, the sudden start of the Indian and his quick and dexterous plunging and drawing up of the net with its inviolable load of whitefish, can do nothing but acknowledge to himself the necromancy of the Indian's piscatorial art. I know that I did, and for two seasons gave myself away to the fascination of that mysterious fishing. Then one day I marveled at it greatly to Guide Garron, the shrewd and cunning old Frenchman who knows every rock and eddy and whirlpool of the rapids and all the wiles and tricks that any other guide knows and a whole lot that no other one does know, and Garron's little black eyes twinkled."

"Ah," he chuckled. "Zat mageek b're. He von gr-rand homboag!"

"Then he explained in his voluble and picturesque patois the apparent mystery of the Indian whitefish fisherman's magic eye. Whitefish are natural denizens of the still, silent waters of the great lakes. To get from Lake Huron to Lake Superior these fish must fight their way up the fierce and stubborn Sault Ste. Marie rapids. In doing this they travel by easy stages. They can brave the rapids but a short distance at a time, when, almost exhausted, they drop into the shelter of the friendly rocks that pile the bottom of the rapids."

"Huddled sometimes by the score behind these rocks, getting wind, as it were, to overcome another stage of their journey, the whitefish, if the water is not too deep, can be lifted out by the hand of the fisherman, they are so nearly exhausted. The Indians as well as the white fishermen know this and, knowing well the location of these sheltering rocks, have only to thrust their nets down behind them and draw them up filled with fish."

"The cunning of the Indian led him long ago to give visitors the impression that he could penetrate the troubled depths of the rapids with his gaze and discover the whitefish on the bottom. The wonder of it spread, and it has been one of the fondest and best paying fictions of 'Susan Mary,' as the natives give you the pronunciation of the Sault Ste. Marie."—New York Times.

An Anecdote of Genius.

The following anecdote of Leigh Hunt was once related by "Orion" Horne. Horne on a bitterly cold day in winter went to see Hunt, and found him in a large room with a wide, old fashioned fireplace. He had dragged his piano on to the hearth, close to a large fire, leaving only room for himself and his chair, and was playing with the greatest enjoyment.

"My dear fellow," cried Horne, "are you aware that you are ruining your piano forever and ever in that heat?"

"I know—I know," murmured Hunt, "but it is delicious."

THE RIGHT THING

A New Catarrh Cure, Which is Rapidly
Coming to the Front.

For several years, Eucalyptol Gualacol and Hydrastin have been recognized as standard remedies for catarrhal troubles but they have always been given separately and only very recently an ingenious chemist succeeded in combining them together with other antiseptics into a pleasant effective tablet.

Druggists sell the remedy under the name of Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and it has met with remarkable success in the cure of nasal catarrh, bronchial and throat catarrh and in catarrh of the stomach.

Mr. F. N. Benton, whose address is care of Clark House, Troy, N. Y. says: "When I ran up against anything that is good I like to tell people of it. I have been troubled with catarrh more or less for some time. Last winter more than ever. Tried several so-called cures, but did not get any benefit from them. About six weeks ago City, writes: 'I have commenced using Catarrh Tablets and am glad to say that they have done wonders for me and I do not hesitate to let my friends know that Stuart's Catarrh Tablets are the right thing.'

Mr. Geo. J. Casanova of the hotel Grifton, West 9th street, New York City, writes: "I have commenced using Stuart's Catarrh Tablets and already they have given me better results than any catarrh cure I have ever tried. A leading physician of Pittsburgh advises the use Stuart's Catarrh Tablets in preference to any other treatment for catarrh of the head, throat or stomach."

He claims they are far superior to inhalers, salves, lotions or powder, and are so harmless that little children take them with benefit as they contain no opiate, cocaine or any poisonous drugs.

All druggists sell Stuart's Catarrh Tablets at 50 cents for full size package and they are probably the safest and most reliable cure for any form of catarrh.

JAS. H. FARRELL, A PROMINENT CHICAGO MAN.

And the Oldest Member of the Illinois
House of Representatives Makes a Recommendation.

James H. Farrell of Chicago is one of the best known figures in the Democratic politics of that city. For years he has been marshal of the famous Cook County Democracy Marching Club, which has participated in Democratic campaigns in behalf of the states of the union, and which went to New York especially to assist in the election of Mayor Van Wyck.

Capt. Farrell is the oldest member of the Illinois House of Representatives in point of service, having been a member continuously since 1887. His constituents have elected him eight times. He has been a leader in that body from the beginning of his career and is one of the best known figures in Illinois politics.

Capt. Farrell is 59 years of age and one of the best preserved men for his years in the Illinois Legislature, despite his arduous and constant duties in that body. Mr. Farrell is engaged in the real estate business in Chicago. Under date of March 14, 1901, he writes as follows:

Springfield, Ill.
Pepsin Syrup Co., Monticello, Ill.
Mrs. R. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Gentlemen:—I have found after a thorough trial that your Syrup Pepsin is a most excellent and successful remedy for Dyspepsia. Bilioousness and Sick Headache. It is most effective and pleasing in all cases of this nature, and it is with pleasure I recommend it to others.

Respectfully Yours,
JAS. H. FARRELL.

EFFORT

To Have Chicago Editor and Reporter
Released on Habeas Corpus—
Interest in Case.

Chicago, Nov. 17.—The proceedings in the habeas corpus instituted by counsel for Managing Editor Lawrence and reporter Canfield of Hearst's "American" before Judge Dunne were to have reached a culmination before that jurist this morning but were postponed until tomorrow. Judge Haney, who sentenced Lawrence and Canfield for contempt of court in criticizing his decision in the Gas Trust case, will await Judge Dunne's action before signing the commitment papers. The confusion in the legal status of the case has aroused general interest.

ST. LOUISVILLE SUPPER.

St. Louisville, O., Nov. 14.—On Thanksgiving night, the Lutheran church people will give a supper at Belt's hall. Proceeds for the benefit of the church. All the delicacies of the season, including turkey, will be served. At the supper the Ladies' Aid society will have on exhibition their famous church quilt, which is said to be a novelty and one of the finest productions of art in the quilt line ever witnessed in this locality. Over 800 names of the persons who contributed toward the quilt are written in indelible ink upon it. We understand it will be offered for sale.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Mix stove blacking with a little ammonia to prevent it burning off.

A teakettle should never be allowed to stand on the side of the fire with a small quantity of water in it.

A rose poultice is made by packing fresh rose petals in salt, a layer of the petals, then a layer of salt, and keeping them covered for six months.

A convenient substitute for a cork-screw when the latter is not at hand may be found in the use of a common saw with an attached string to pull the cork.

For ink stains on furniture add six drops of nitric to a teaspoonful of water and apply it to the stain with a feather. If the stain does not yield to the first application, make it stronger and repeat the process.

Stains on silverware require prompt attention, otherwise it will take a long time to remove them. Sulphuric acid will remove the stain left by medicine.

Dip the spoon in the acid, repeating the process until the stain has disappeared; then wash in very hot water.

Wrong Place.

He threw back his shoulders, assumed a look of haughtiness and walked up to the door and rang.

A lady with a red nose and thin lips answered the ring. "Whadjevant?" said she.

"Madam," explained Tatterton Ragges, with a voice through which ran a vein of melancholy, "you see before you the wreck of a once noble man—a wreck, madam, of—"

"You're made a mistake, then," said the uncompromising female. "The junkshop is four doors down!" And she slammed the door in his face.—San Francisco Bulletin.

Old Silver.

Teapots and coffee pots do not go back very far, since tea and coffee were not introduced into Europe until the seventeenth century, and no silver teapot or kettle is known of earlier date than 1700. Festoons and medallions are characteristic ornaments of teapots of the time of the early Georges. Not until the middle of the eighteenth century, however, do we find silver urns, tea strainers and tea caddies. Cream jugs followed the fashions of the larger pieces.

The first English sanceboat in silver belongs to the year 1727. Silver candlesticks are older, being found first with square bases and fluted columns, in the reign of Charles II. Medallions, festoons and drapery characterize later candlesticks, and the Corinthian column pattern, so great a favorite, was first introduced about 1765. Cake baskets of the beautiful old silver in which Paul Lamerie so excelled as a maker belong also to the middle of the eighteenth century. Many trays and salvers were made in this old silver, which, by the way, is again in fashion, and deservedly so.—Harper's Bazar.

Fashionable Screens.
The fashionable screen for the feminine bedroom is covered with cretonne or chintz in large flowered patterns, says the Brooklyn Eagle. For the library heavy material in plain green, with tapestry square inserted near the top of each panel, remains in favor, but the leather screen ornamented with large bronze nailheads is the leader for dining room or hall use.

Keeping Flowers Fresh.
With the chrysanthemum season at hand lovers of the flower will be glad to know that the Japanese have a way of keeping them fresh for a long time. They turn the ends of the stems with a bit of flaming wood—not a match, as the fumes of the sulphur would injure the flowers.

O'Soap—Huh! Wait till it's his turn to treat."

RUHLIN

IS PICKED TO WIN THE GREAT
CHAMPIONSHIP BATTLE

By Majority of Newark Sports, But
They Want Odds—Both Ohio Men.
Ruhlin Quits Tobacco.

The outcome of the approaching match between James J. Jeffries, present champion heavyweight prize fighter of the world, and Gus Ruhlin, the "Akron giant," a product of Ohio, which will be decided Friday night at San Francisco, is attracting more than usual interest in Newark.

The great majority of sporting men of the city wish for the success of the Ohio fighter, but they ask odds when the matter of backing their opinion is touched, of from 5 to 2 to 1.

Both men are really from the Buckeye state, but Jeffries' home has been so long in California that he is now identified with that state. His first cousins, the children of Mr. O. L. Ingman, live here, and he has many followers who believe that he will successfully defend his hard-earned title.

Since the reports have shown that Ruhlin has "cut out" tobacco, which undoubtedly injured his stomach, his stock has taken a decided boost. When he was defeated by Fitzsimmons, that great Cornish fighter told him: "I licked you by landing on your stomach, which I knew to be weakened by excessive chewing of tobacco. Cut it out and you will yet be champion."

The fight takes place at San Francisco at 9:15 (not later), which is 12:15 o'clock in Newark, so that it is hardly possible that any accurate returns can be had until Saturday.

The betting at the ringside will probably be even money and take your choice.

The sporting editor of the Advocate is authorized to say that Barney Byrnes will bet $100 to $40 that Jeffries will win the fight, and $100 even that Ruhlin will not stay 15 rounds.

Any one wanting the shirt end of the bet can be accommodated by calling on Mr. Byrnes as he is ready to put up the money.

Several small wagers have been made on the fight at even money.

San Francisco, Nov. 14.—Betting on the Jeffries-Ruhlin match tomorrow is very light at 2 1/2 to 1 today on Jeffries with little Jeffries money in sight. The lightest kind of work will be done by the fighters from now till the battle. Jeffries now says he expects to win in two rounds.

WEDDING

Of Miss Patt and Mr. Castle Took Place at Granville Instead of Newark.

Granville, O., Nov. 14.—Mr. Walter Castle, a prominent young farmer, who resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Castle, near Alexandria, and Miss Anna-Patt, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. B. F. Patt, of Newark, were married Tuesday evening. The ceremony took place at the home of Miss Wartenbee, on Broadway, in Granville, and the ceremony was performed by the bride's father, in the presence of about twenty-five guests. After congratulations the wedding supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Castle were the recipients of a large number of handsome presents, among them being a fine center table and three rockers, from the members of the church. The newly wedded couple will make their home with the groom's parents for a short time, when they will go to housekeeping. They have the best wishes of many friends. The wedding was to have been held in the Baptist church of Newark, but owing to the Board of Health's orders against public gatherings at this time arrangements were changed.

Miss Foraker

Daughter of the Senator Married at Cincinnati to Randolph Matthews,
Young Lawyer.

Cincinnati, Nov. 14.—The wedding of Miss Florence Foraker, daughter of Senator Foraker, took place this afternoon at the Church of The Advent at 4:30 o'clock. The groom is Randolph Matthews, a young attorney of Cincinnati. The church is beautifully decorated with white chrysanthemums. Among the out-of-town guests are Governor Nash, Mrs. Deshler and Mrs. Sewers of Columbus, and Judge and Mrs. Whittemore of Washington.

Sensor Foraker's gift to the bride is his magnificent home in Walnut Hills. Mr. and Mrs. Matthews will leave tonight for a wedding trip to the Bermudas. Miss Julia Foraker, maid of honor, will within a few months become the bride of Francis King Wainwright of Philadelphia.

Mrs. C. L. McCann and daughter, Elizabeth, of Fairmount, Minn., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Crawford, at their home in Perryton.

DEATH.—Mr. John Heipley died at his home on North Fourth street, about 3.30 this afternoon aged about 72 years. Further particulars tomorrow.

ANTHONY TROLLOPE.

Miseries and Irritations Incident
Upon His Start in Life.

Anthony Trollope's start in life was unpromising. As he knew no languages, ancient or modern, he became classical usher at a school in Brussels, with the promise of a commission in the Austrian army. Then he was suddenly transferred to a clerkship in the London postoffice. He was disqualified for the new position by general ignorance and special incapacity for the simplest arithmetic. A vague threat that he must pass an examination was forgotten before it was put into execution, and Trollope characteristically takes occasion to denounce the system of competitive examination by which he would have been excluded. Meanwhile he was turned loose in London and attempted to live like a gentleman on £30 a year. The results are indicated by a couple of anecdotes.

A money lender once advanced him £4, for which, first and last, he paid £200. This person, he says, became so much attached to him as to pay a daily visit to his office and exhort him to be punctual. "These visits were very terrible and can hardly have been of service to me in the office." This mild remark applies also to the visits from the mother of a young woman in the country who had fallen in love with him and to whom he "lacked the pluck to give a decided negative." The mother used to appear with a basket on her arm and an immense bonnet upon her head and inquire in a loud voice before all his companions, "Anthony Trollope, when are you going to marry my daughter?"

No wonder that he was miserable. He was hopelessly in debt and often unable to pay for a dinner. He hated his work, he says, and he hated his idleness; he quarreled with his superiors, who thought him hopelessly incapable and felt that he was sinking "to the lowest pits." At last he heard of a place in the Irish postoffice which everybody despised and was successful on applying for it, because his masters were glad to get rid of him. At the same time they informed his new superior that he would probably have to be dismissed on the first opportunity.—National Review.

RATHBUN

REMOVAL TO JEFFERSONVILLE
TO STAND TRIAL

On the Charge of Murder of Charles
Goodman — He Had No
Accomplices.

Jeffersonville, Ind., Nov. 14.—Newell Rathbun, the insurance swindler, was visited at the county jail today by your correspondent to ascertain if possible whether he is Pat Crowe. On being told that the chief of police of Little Rock had identified his photograph as that of Pat Crowe, Rathbun replied that if he was Pat Crowe he didn't know it. All he knew of Crowe, he said, was from accounts in the papers. Rathbun will be closely guarded to prevent him committing suicide, should he have such intentions.

Louisville, Nov. 14.—Newell C. Rathbun, who was arrested here on suspicion of having caused the death at Jeffersonville, Ind., of Charles Goodman, who was found dead in a hotel in that city last Thursday, death having resulted it is supposed from lead-anism poisoning, is in the Clark court, Ind., jail on a charge of murder. Under instructions from the war department at Washington Rathbun, who is a deserter from the United States army, was turned over to the Indiana authorities and taken across the river. A feature of the case was the decision of the authorities to have the body of the supposed Goodman returned to Jeffersonville from Little Rock for an autopsy and identification, and the refusal of the local authorities to send Rathbun to Little Rock to testify at the inquest over the corpse that was shipped there.

In the jail at Jeffersonville Rathbun was asked whether his wife at Little Rock was implicated in the plot to collect the insurance. After several moments' silence he replied, "No, there was nobody in it at Little Rock."

Inquest Over the Remains.
Little Rock, Nov. 14.—In order to establish the identity of the man under arrest at Louisville, and said to be Newell C. Rathbun, Deputy Sheriff A. B. Chichester left for Louisville, accompanied by Emil T. Cloeckler, who knows Rathbun well. Coroner Young took testimony touching the identity of the dead body sent here as that of Rathbun. Charles McKown, whose wife is a sister of Rathbun's wife, testified that he was well acquainted with Rathbun. He had looked at the body and thought that it was undoubtedly that of Rathbun. Other witnesses testified to the same effect. Still others were positive the corpse was not that of Rathbun, but admitted a resemblance. Mrs. Rathbun continues in a state of nervous prostration and could not be seen.

Miners Restrained.
Louisville, Nov. 14.—On the application of the Rembeck Mine Coal company, a foreign corporation, operating coal mines in Hopkins county, Ky., Judge Walter Evans of the United States district court granted an order restraining 20 men named in the petition and all the others from interfering with the business of the company or its employees or resorting to means of intimidation or violence or inducing its employees to quit work or refuse to work. The order prohibits all persons from destroying property of the company and from holding meetings within gunshot of the mines.

Battle With Bandits.
Guthrie, O. T., Nov. 14.—A pitched battle was fought between deputy sheriffs and citizens on one side and a band of outlaws on the other near Pooke, a village of Kay county. The officers state the outlaws to be some of the escaped prisoners from Leavenworth. The battle was the result of an attempt made by the outlaws, who were masked, to steal several horses in that neighborhood. Several of the combatants are reported wounded. Officers in all sections of Oklahoma have been notified and the escape of the gang seems impossible.

Hope Blue Diamond.
London, Nov. 14.—The report that the famous Hope blue diamond is returning to New York is correct. It is in the pocket of a member of a New York firm now on his way there from London. The heirloom was sold by order of the master in chancery. The price paid was $250,000.

Five Feet of Snow.
Copenhagen, Nov. 14.—A terrible gale and snowstorm, lasting for the past 12 hours, has done great damage throughout Denmark. There are five feet of snow here. Eight vessels are reported drifting ashore, two have been wrecked and many lives have been lost.

They didn't return until late in the day and brought back with them as a result of their labors, six cotton-tails. THE NEWARK CAMP

Chance to Enlarge State Ground for Division Purposes.

The Government Might Co-operate if Pushed Strong Enough. What the Columbus Dispatch Says of the Proposition and the State Ground.

(Columbus Dispatch.)

Leaving the barracks proposition for the Columbus board of trade and Congressman Emmett Tompkins to wrestle with, the state at large and the national guard in general has a chance now to land one of the biggest things ever put in sight for the militia of the state.

The state camping grounds at Newark, given to Ohio in fee simple by the people of Newark, have never been extensively used by the guard; for the simple reason that the state legislature has been niggardly in its appropriations for regimental headquarters and the different regimental headquarters have been dependent upon the bonus given them by various towns and vaudeville parks for money enough to run headquarters for the year.

In other words, when it came time for a regiment to go to camp, the officers cast about to see where they could go to camp and the regiment got paid for it. The camp was made a summer attraction for which a town, park or company was willing to pay.

Now the state camp at Newark is established for the good of the guard. There is fine water, a grand target range; electric lights, fine railway facilities, good, healthy sites for camps and both telephone and telegraph service. The camp is far enough from the town to remove certain baneful influences.

At the officers school held there last summer, it was the unanimous verdict that if there could be a sufficient appropriation for regimental headquarters, Newark would be the best place in Ohio to camp.

There is a fine 600 yard target range and Uncle Sam thinks so well of the place that he sends his soldiers from the Columbus barracks there a company at a time for target and such other exercises as are impossible in a barracks or post.

Guardsmen admit that there never has been such a camp in Ohio as the provisional regiment had there—one so healthy and so good and lasting in its results.

Now, then, if Uncle Sam and the Buckeye state could combine and own say 640 acres or 1,000, and the land could be bought, there would be room for the entire national guard to camp as a division. This would give engineers, cavalry, artillery and infantry a chance to maneuver either as a whole or as units. It would give a 2,000 yard cannon range and a 1,200 yard rifle range.

It would give United States troops field work as battalions, regiments, brigades or divisions, and would be a place where troops of all arms could be rendezvoused at a few hours notice.

An ordinance has been adopted by the town council of Yorkville, S. C., making it a misdemeanor for any person to be seen staggering on the streets of the town.

PAY CAR—The Pan Handle pay car arrived in Newark at noon today and paid the men at this point.

The sixty-ninth general assembly at its closing session passed senate bill No. 668, to provide for a permanent camping ground for the Ohio national guard. The ground was to comprise not less than 70 acres, was to be within 50 miles of the geographical center of the state and a commission of three was provided for to secure a location and accept any donation of land and have it deeded to the state in fee simple.

Adjutant General Thomas T. Dill, Surgeon General Hugh A. Hart and Colonel E. J. Pocock were named as the commission and after visiting Newark, Delaware, Columbus, Prospect and Zanesville, accepted the Old Fort at Newark, tendered by the people of that place, November 3, 1891.

The site was a beautiful one and consisted of 125 acres. It was within two miles of Newark and within two miles of the geographical center of the state. Part of the ground contained the Octagon and Circle forts of the Mound Builders. The Octagon has 50 acres and the circle 30. The entire tract was high and level, while Raccoon creek flowed past. The recommendation was made that the legislature appropriate liberally for hospital buildings, etc.

An engineer battalion camped there August 9-14, 1890, and Corporal Robert R. Abbott of the signal corps, surveyed and platted the ground.

Since then, owing to the fact that regiments have had to keep up their treasuries by camping where they got a bonus, the camp has not been used much until this past year, though the regulars from Columbus recognized its worth and rifle contests were held there.

There is a rifle range of 600 yards along Raccoon creek running east of north and all the conveniences for a brigade if placed in close order.

For some time guard officers have been in favor of securing additional land lying adjacent and enlarging the camp so that an entire division could camp and work there.

If the Ohio people and the congressmen, can get before the big board at Washington and tell authorities about the camp with its proposed enlarged facilities, there is a chance that the Buckeye state can reap a big benefit. Perhaps the government could be induced to purchase 500 or 1,000 acres adjacent to the present site and use it conjointly with the militia.

Hard work will be necessary to secure the end proposed, but it is believed that the United States army officers who have seen the camp site will "go to the front" for Ohio.

Wisconsin has 640 acres for its camp, and if Ohio could get additional grounds, there could be made a rendezvous large enough for the department of the lakes.

WEAR OF THE EARTH

HOW THE FACE OF OUR GLOBE IS CONTINUALLY CHANGING.

Geological Agents That Are Always Busy in Nature's Great Workshop. Where Man Has Comparatively Little Influence.

The atmosphere plays its part in geological operations. Its corroding power, backed by rain and wind, helps to decay and disintegrate those rocks which are exposed to its influence. Rain completes the work thus begun. Wind blows dust, sand and volcanic ashes over large tracts of earth—in fact, over the whole of it.

It is only of late years that geologists have discovered that fine volcanic dust is carried over the whole of the earth's surface and plays a very important part in the deep sea deposits. On deserts and nearly rainless regions blown sand will wear away the hardest rocks by beating against them. Some sandstone formations appear to have been piled up by winds. Winds cause ocean currents, waves and storms. The great denuding power of the sea is largely due to the atmosphere. Some parts of the English coasts are being rapidly washed away. Plants and animals have their distribution considerably affected by winds and ocean currents. Again, whether living in water or on land, animals live on the oxygen supplied from the atmosphere, and land plants absorb carbonic acid from the same source.

Rain acts in two ways: (1) chemically by dissolving certain substances, such as lime, out of the rocks, and (2) mechanically by wearing down their surfaces as it flows over them. Any old building—a ruined castle or cathedral, for instance—shows a "weathered" surface resulting from the action of rain and wind. In sandstone structures the details of carving are often lost, and on old tombstones the lettering can hardly be deciphered. Springs are due to rainwater collecting in rocks and rising to the surface. Rivers are fed by rains and springs.

A river is a very powerful geological agent. In the hardest rocks rivers gradually carve out a valley or gorge. This is accomplished partly by chemically dissolving certain mineral substances, but chiefly by mechanical erosion, the stones, sand and mud wearing away the bed of a stream as they run and tumble over it.

The finest examples of river action are the famous canyons of Colorado, which in some places are gorges 5,000 or even 6,000 feet deep, with vertical sides. But, as already pointed out, rivers have a constructive action quite as important as their destructive action. By bringing down their burden of sediment into lakes, estuaries and seas they build up great piles of rock and "sow the dust of continents to be."

Glaciers are rivers of ice fed by the "eternal snows" of high mountain ranges such as the Alps. They wear out their own valleys as rivers do; they transport mud, sand and stones to great distances, in some cases sending them scaled up in icebergs to float far out to sea and on melting deposit their burdens on the sea floor. Off the coast of Newfoundland northern icebergs are depositing a great mass of "glacial drift."

The sea is a great denuding agent; but its work is more constructive than destructive. It is the workshop where nearly all the stratified rocks have been accumulated and ranged in layers or strata. The rivers and ocean currents continually bring in fresh supplies of debris even for hundreds of miles.

Man, compared with the lower animals, produces but little effect as a geological agent. Still the human race has considerably modified the distribution of plants by cutting down forests and by cultivating certain plants to supply food. So with animals. Certain useful species have been cultivated and enormously increased at the expense of others which prove useless or harmful.

But plants and animals have had, and still have, far more influence geologically. Coal seams are made up of vegetable remains of former periods. Forests have an important influence on climate and on animal as well as plant life. In the comparatively unknown world of the ocean marine plants doubtless have important functions.

Marine animals accomplish a vast amount of geological constructive work. Great deposits thousands of feet thick owe their existence to small calcareous creatures living in the sea. Coral reefs afford the most familiar illustration.

The force known as heat is of great importance. The earth is hotter below the surface and probably has a very high temperature toward its center. In some places not very far below its surface it contains highly heated rock, which occasionally flows over the surface during volcanic eruptions. In other places we find hot springs in connection with volcanic action.

Heat exercises a powerful influence on rocks deeply buried below the earth's surface, chiefly by means of heated water and steam. In this way rocks have been very much altered or "metamorphosed." The crystalline schists have thus been brought to their present state by a series of chemical changes due to heat, and there is no doubt that they were once ordinary deposits of clay, sand, etc.—Hutchinson's "Autobiography of the Earth," the Appleton Company.

News of The Railroads.

New York, Nov. 14. — There were two important developments in the railroad situation in the northwest, and both tended to confirm the existing belief that a final basis of settlement of the contest for the control of the Northern Pacific had been definitely agreed to. Final ratification of this agreement will bring into existence the greatest and most effective example of the community of interest as applied to the railroad systems of the country. The first of the developments was the incorporation at Trenton, N. J., of the Northern Securities company, with capital stock of $400,000,000, and the second was the unanimous adoption by the Northern Pacific directors of a resolution providing for the retirement at par of the company's preferred stock on Jan. 1, 1902. It was generally understood that the company formed was to take over and control the shares of the Northern Pacific and the Great Northern railways and their leased lines. J. P. Morgan and J. J. Hill are back of the deal.

Regarding the scope of the management a member of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Company says: "The agreement now reached is perfect in that there is an understanding that will protect the Union Pacific, Burlington, Northern Pacific and Great Northern roads. It will maintain the interests of each and prevent any of them from interfering with the others. The understanding is absolute that it is in the expectation of the parties to the agreement bound to be permanent, and security holders need not be afraid of any more months of May because of northwestern railway interests."

One of the heads of the Harriman syndicate declared that the agreement meant that, hereafter, no important matter could be pushed to a conclusion without the knowledge and assent of Union Pacific interests.

As the control of the Burlington road by the Great Northern-Northern Pacific interests, followed by the struggle for Northern Pacific shares, caused the affair, which has just reached a settlement, the disposition of the Burlington naturally is an interesting question. In this regard the Journal of Commerce says that the Burlington is to be restored by the Northern Pacific and Great Northern, who now own it, to a practically independent basis, and enjoy full and free traffic relations with all connections.

Mighty Has Fallen.

Old 999, once the pride and joy of the New York Central Railroad, king of the round-house, fastest of express engines, will hereafter draw a milk train along the banks of the Hudson.

A fast life—the pace that kills—brought 999 to its degradation. It was the fastest engine in the world when it was proudly exhibited at the Fair at Chicago, and for years it drew the famous Empire State Express between New York and Albany. Its career has been short but glorious, and its brilliant record will be perpetuated in moving pictures and railroad advertisements.

The steel racer has been breaking down for some months. The wisest engineers in the country have examined it, but shook their heads, for the old engine had fairly burned herself out.

Its usefulness as a pilot of fast expresses was over; only the drudgery of milk train hauling remained, and when even that proves too much for the once giant frame the scrap heap will be the last resort.

BY THE GRAND JURY

Train Robber Suspect Indicted on Seventeen Counts.

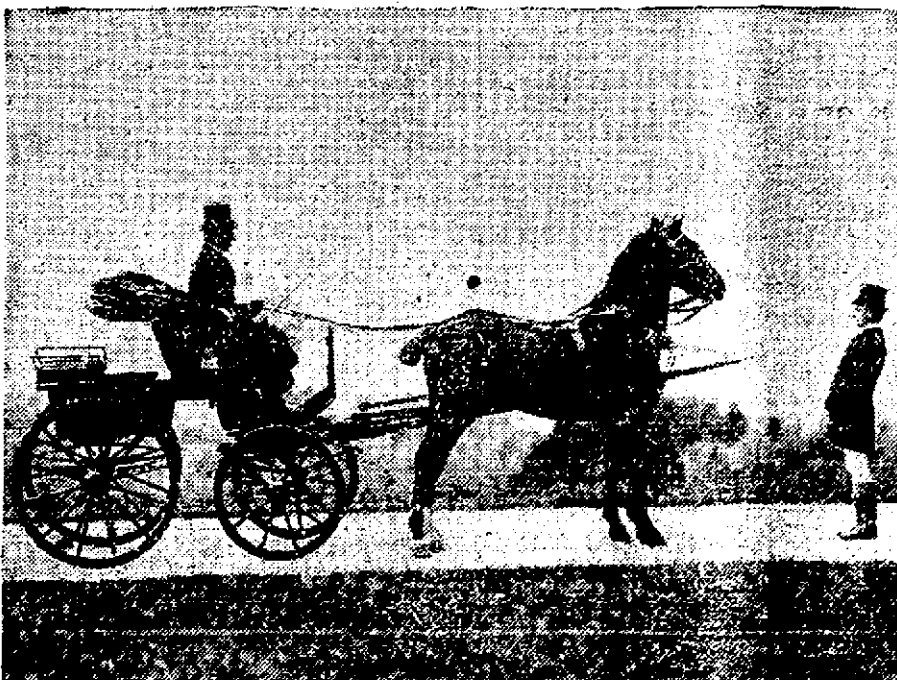

HIS FEMALE COMPANION ALSO HELD.

Prisoner Positively Identified as the Leader of the Gang That Held Up and Robbed the Great Northern Express—Developments in the Case of Rathbun, Alleged Insurance Fraud.

St. Louis, Nov. 14. — Harry Longbaugh, the mysterious Montana train robber suspect, and his companion, Laura Bullion, were indicted by the grand jury on 17 counts each. Charles H. Smith and William O'Neill, express messenger and fireman respectively of the Great Northern, flyer that was held up last July near Wagner, Mont., arrived here and identified the suspect under arrest as Harry Longbaugh, the man who held up the train and took the lead in intimidating the train crew and blowing open the express company's safe, from which nearly $100,000 in unsigned bills of the National bank of Helena were stolen. O'Neill says that Longbaugh is the man who climbed over the tender and held up Engineer Jones and himself, and then superintended the blowing up of the safe. His recollection of the episode was so vivid that he could describe the two revolver shots that the robber used. The police say they are the same weapons that were found on the prisoner when he was arrested. Smith and O'Neill came to St. Louis accompanied by D. F. Elliott, general manager of the Great Northern Express company, in whose car the banknotes were when stolen. Longbaugh never flinched when the identification was made, but he refused to talk.

FRANK GOULD'S BLUE RIBBON TEAM, WHICH HE HAS GIVEN AWAY.

Mr. Frank Gould has given to his sister, Miss Helen Gould, his famous prize winning team. Young Mr. Gould, as has been announced, is to be married, and when he becomes a Benedict he intends to abandon his sporting fads. Mr. Gould has been known for several years as a lover of horses and a fancier of dogs. He has carefully selected some of the best bred horses in the country, and at every important horse show where they were exhibited his two pet stallions, Burlington and Sandringham, have carried off the blue ribbon.

The same results have followed where Mr. Gould has exhibited his dogs. At great expense Mr. Gould brought to this country about one year ago two highly bred St. Bernard dogs. They are Marvelcroft and Baron Lundridge. The former cost $1,200, and the latter was purchased for $1,000. Mr. Gould already had a fine kennel at Lyndhurst-on-Hudson, and with this new stock he possessed a kennel which had few equals in America. All these animals are to be sold.

ON THE VERGE OF SUCCESS

The Easy Steward and the Audacious "Grafier."

A man walked into one of the uptown college clubs one morning and sat down in the smoking room. His air of assurance was hardly in accord with his tattered clothes. It was early, and none of the members was about. He rang the bell, and the steward responded.

"It seems good to get back into the club again," he remarked.

"Yes, sir," said the steward.

"I used to be a member here, but I've had hard luck and can't afford it any longer."

"Yes, sir; I'm sorry, sir," said the steward.

"By the way, I'm a little short of cash this morning," said the nervous stranger. "Could you let me have ten cents until I call here again?"

The surprised steward reached into his pocket and handed out a dime.

"Thank you," said the man. "Now, I'm also a little hungry, having had no breakfast. Do you suppose you could gather me up a little luncheon?"

The steward was staggered by such a display of nerve.

"And a little whisky with a dash of bitters would not go badly with the food."

The steward fled as one of the members entered. The stranger saw the new arrival and rose hastily.

"I am too early for my friend," he said as he walked toward the door. "I will return later." Then he added in an undertone, which the doorman heard: "Too bad, too bad! That steward was easy. He'd given me the club if I'd asked for it. It's a wonder those members wouldn't stay away."

The man of nerve walked down the street with his head bowed in deep thought. "How to get that luncheon without paying for it," was his theme.—New York Tribune.

Mexico Favors Trusts.

City of Mexico, Nov. 14.—Renewed reports in financial circles attribute to the Standard Oil group the purpose to establish a large trust company here which will do a banking business and provide means for financing large American undertakings, these being continually growing in importance. Present Mexican legislation does not contemplate trust companies as they are known in the United States, and there will have to be extensive changes made in existing laws to give full scope to a trust company. These steps, it is now said, are under consideration by the government. It is recognized that this country's business development has reached a point where trust companies are necessary.

Desperate Suicide.

Omaha, Nov. 14. — Peter Miller, a Swedish laborer, committed suicide, using a knife, a heavy iron pin, a hatchet and finally a rope before he succeeded in killing himself. He first drew a large knife across his throat and was making another slash when his room-mate intercepted him. He then grasped a heavy iron pin and commenced crushing his skull in. When the pin was taken from him he picked up a hatchet and fled from the room. He was found later suspended by a rope from the top of a furniture van, with his body badly chopped up with the hatchet, which was lying near. He is thought to have been insane.

Murder Alleged.

Wasau, Wis., Nov. 14.—Joseph and James Noiseu, uncles of Thomas Leclair, who was burned to death in the theater fire at Hurley, have returned from that place, and assert that their nephew was murdered and the theater fired to conceal the crime. They claim they discovered that on the evening of the fire Thomas Leclair had a fight over a variety actress to whom he had been paying attention. Leclair, they say, was on the same floor as those who were saved, but no one was found who had seen him during the fire. The story will be investigated.

Sultan Promises to Pay.

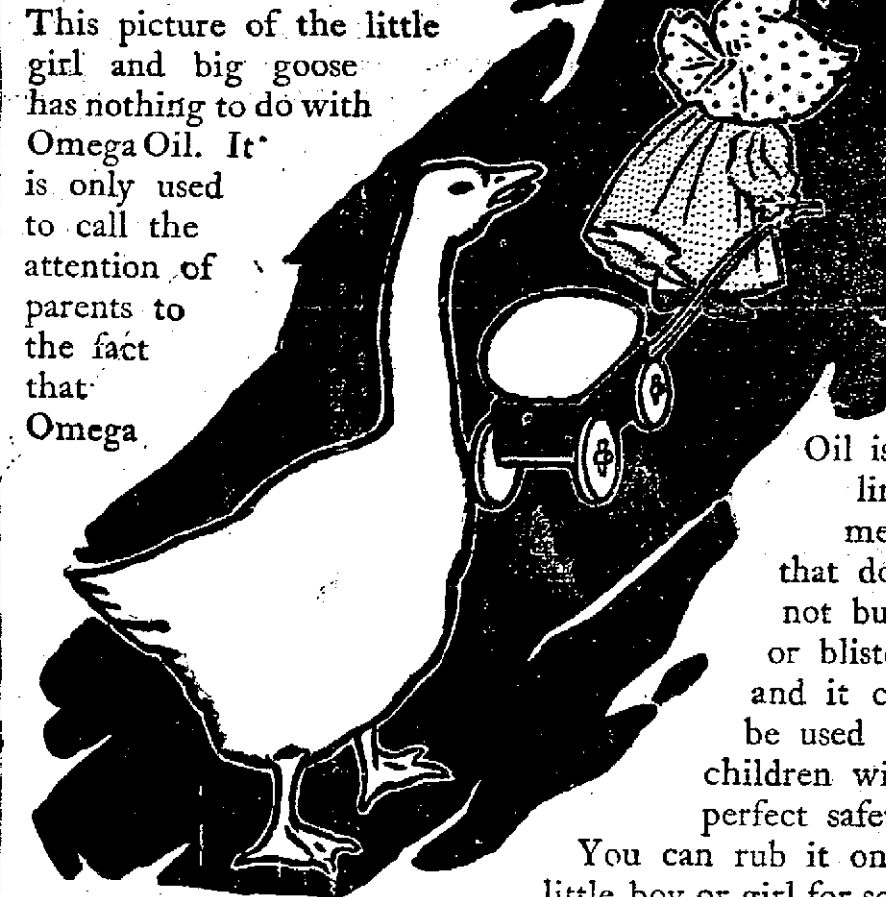

Vienna, Nov. 14.—The numerous grievances of Austro-Hungary against Turkey have been settled by the agreement of the porte to pay 90,000 francs to the Armenian victims and by adjusting financially and otherwise the wrongs arising from eight other matters of dispute. These include the claims of the Oriental Railway company. It was the purpose of Austria-Hungary to adopt effective measures had the porte not yielded.

Attacked by Fire.

New York, Nov. 14.—Fire attacked the wholesale grocery and spice house of Smith & Sills, Eighth avenue and Forty-sixth street. The loss is estimated at $145,000.

For Children Omega Oil

This picture of the little girl and big goose has nothing to do with Omega Oil. It is only used to call the attention of parents to the fact that Omega

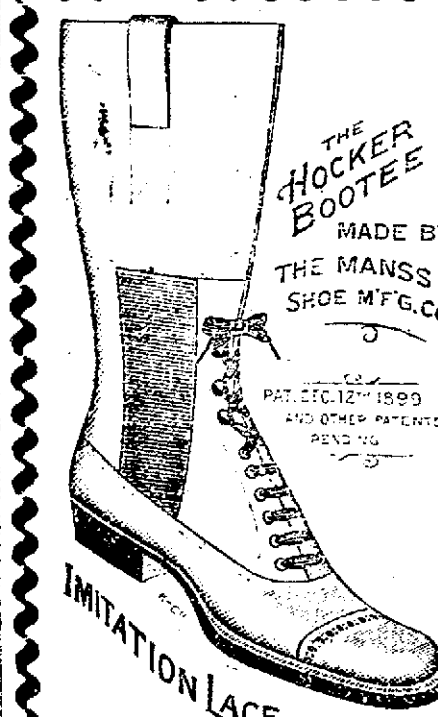

Oil is a liniment that does not burn or blister, and it can be used on children with perfect safety.

You can rub it on a little boy or girl for sore throat, for swollen tonsils, or cold in the chest, and it will effect a quick cure without hurting the tender skin. You can use it on the youngsters for a sprain or bruise, or for any pain in the legs, arms, back or other part of the body. Omega Oil is the only liniment that is always safe to use on children. They all like to have it rubbed on them, for it has such a pretty green color, and it smells so nice that they think it fun to have it used on them.

JUNK DEALER

SAID TO HAVE CONDUCTED A SCHOOL OF CRIME.

Nine Small Boys Said to Have Been The Pupils—The Man and the Boys Arrested.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—An alleged "school of crime," with nine small boys as members and James Kolis, a junk dealer, as captain, has been discovered in the ghetto. Kolis, with all his boys, have been arrested. Warrants were sworn out at the same time for several junk dealers who are said to have bought the stolen goods. Whipped in hand, Kolis is charged by two of the boys, who have made confessions, with having forced them to steal. They say he would not let them go to school, that he threatened to kill them if they betrayed him, and that sometimes he would give them revolvers and tell them to shoot anybody who caught them while on their thieving expeditions.

The first meeting of the independents occurred at Indianapolis last week, at a time when some serious cutting in prices was threatened all around. The invitation of Manager Mambour, to attend the meeting almost insured the affiliation of the independents with the other companies.

Substitute For Soap. There are a few people to whose skins soap seems an irritant. They should use bran. The sons of one of the old kings of Holland were forbidden the use of soap. They were to use bran and a slice of lemon, the latter to remove inkstains. Napoleon never used soap, but kept his hands beautifully white by the use of bran.

FIGHTERS

DISCUSS THEIR CHANCES IN THE BIG FIGHT

Jeffries Thinks it Can't Last More Than Fifteen Rounds—Both in Fine Condition.

San Francisco, Nov. 14.—Champion Jim Jeffries was asked for an estimate of the length of the fight. "Well," he said, "I know that Ruhlman has not been standing still since I met him last. He has improved very much, and I have an idea that he will bore in from the jump. Maybe I'll stop him in the first round; maybe in the second; but really I don't think it will last longer than 15."

The same question was put to Gus Ruhlman. "I feel strong," he answered, "as well as I ever did in my life. I feel as though I can fight and fight hard, but it's the best man that wins, and how can one tell now what Jeffries is the best? Of course I don't think so, but I would not want to say that the fight would go five or 10 rounds, nor do I say that I can polish him off in one, though I may prove my ability to do so."

Both men are in splendid condition and eager for the fray. Referee Corbett promises the public there will be no hugging or clinching. The odds in the betting are 2 1/2 to 1.

Call to Virginia Miners.

Indianapolis, Nov. 14.—District President J. A. Springer of Flemington, W. Va., through President Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America, issued a call to the miners of Virginia and West Virginia for a joint convention of miners and mine laborers to be held at Huntington, W. Va., Nov. 26. Wage and employment conditions of importance will be considered, including the strike at Hackers, W. Va., involving 500 men. The following day a joint convention of the miners of these two states and the coal operators will be held at Huntington to agree upon a new wage scale. But three states, West Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky, are involved in strikes at present, all of minor nature.

TROOPS FROM INDIA

To Replace General Kitchener's Worn Out Squads.

FORMIDABLE FORCE TO BE RUSHED.

War Secretary Brodrick Asserts That the British Government is Determined to Wear Down the Intrepid Boers—Peace Rumors Flouted on All Sides.

London, Nov. 14. — Speaking at a banquet given in London in his honor by the City Carlton club, Mr. Brodrick, the war secretary, declared that the Boers were hiding their tracks by murdering the Kaffirs behind them. Lord Kitchener wired, he continued, "that the cold-blooded murder of natives had become frequent of late, and that two dead natives, their hands tied behind their backs, were found Nov. 10 at the bottom of a mineshaft." Later in his speech Mr. Brodrick said Great Britain now had 42,000 Boers in custody in the concentration camps and on various islands, and that 11,000 more had been killed or wounded or had left the country on parole. He added that he believed the number of Boers now in the field was about 10,000. "The country has set its teeth and intends to go through the process of wearing down," he exclaimed. "We intend to provide Lord Kitchener with fresh troops to replace the tired ones. Only today a certain colony made an offer to help."

Mr. Brodrick said he was sorry anything had happened to affect the career of Sir Redvers Buller, and he assured the company that the deafness of Sir Evelyn Wood was not a bar to the work that officer had to do as commander of an army corps. Mr. Brodrick explained that four battalions and two cavalry regiments would be drawn from India for service in South Africa.

Peace negotiations are reported from every quarter except in Botha's headquarters in the saddle. The National Liberal Federation is agitating for a full and explicit declaration of terms from Downing street. Kruger and Leyds are credited, for the first time, with a willingness to consider something less than actual national independence as a basis for peace, but the rumors from Holland are contradictory and illusory. There is a story that the Boers in arms have approached Kitchener and have intimated a desire for peace, without any reference to Kruger, Steyn or Botha, but this is a transparent fiction, started for the purpose of explaining Salisbury's veiled reference to grounds of confidence which he could not lay bare.

Senator Hoar to Irish Envoys.

Worcester, Mass., Nov. 14.—John E. Redmond, Hon. Patrick A. McHugh and Hon. Thomas O'Donnell, the Irish envoys now touring this country, were given an enthusiastic reception in Worcester. They addressed an audience that packed Mechanics' hall to the doors and over which Mayor P. J. O'Connell presided. Resolutions endorsing the movement were adopted by the meeting. One of the features of the meeting was the reading of a letter by Mayor O'Connell from Senator George F. Hoar, who regretted he could not be present, on account of an infirmity of his eyes, and who closed by writing: "But your guests will be sure to receive the greeting they so well deserve; and the great American doctrine, no government without the consent of the governed, so disregarded in both hemispheres, will be vindicated in the end in God's good time."

Aguinaldo's Imprisonment.

Washington, Nov. 14. — While the war department has not been advised of the reported step to secure the release of Aguinaldo from captivity through a writ of habeas corpus, it is prepared for a move in that direction. As far as Aguinaldo is concerned it is said that this captivity is only nominal. The only evidence of it consists in the appearance by his side of an army officer when he walks about the town, for he is free to go almost anywhere. Moreover, it is said this escort is also necessary to protect Aguinaldo from assault, as he has been threatened by secret societies.

Judge Haney Criticized.

Indianapolis, Nov. 14.—The report of the resolutions committee to be read at the Knights of Labor convention will denounce the colonial policy of the government, the organization and maintenance of trusts and government by injunction. Edward J. Lindholm of Chicago will present a resolution exhorting Judge Haney of the Chicago bench for what will be referred to as "his misuse of judicial power in punishing for contempt W. R. Hearst and members of the staff of the Chicago American, thus establishing a dangerous precedent in muzzleing a free press."

Light From Decayed Meat.

Providence, Nov. 14. — Light from decayed meat is the latest discovery which may startle the scientific world. Professor Gorham of Brown university claims to have succeeded in extracting from an overripe porterhouse steak sufficient illumination to enable him to take photographs of laboratory apparatus. Professor Gorham is seeking to find an artificial light in which the element of heat is not contained, and believes he is on the road to definite results. Professor Gorham is connected with the bacteriological department of the university.

Logging Camps Closed.

Ashland, Wis., Nov. 14.—At the instigation of the government officials, Senator O'Neil of Washington closed all the logging camps on the Menominee reservation, throwing 1,000 men out of employment. It is presumed that fear of a smallpox outbreak is the cause for closing the camps.

THE WAY OF A TORNADO.

One That Was Remarkable Both in Appearance and Action.

"A tornado that was remarkable both in appearance and in action was one that traveled from Texas across Oklahoma and Indian Territory in May, 1896," says Earl W. Mayo in Ainslee's. "A man in Sherman, Okla., who had exceptional opportunities for observing the storm, inasmuch as he was caught up in it and carried several hundred yards before descending to earth again, is certain that it was not funnel shaped. He says of it:

"It looked to me like a great ball of vapor rolling over and over toward me. When I first saw it distinctly, it was at a hill perhaps an eighth of a mile away. It seemed to be about 250 yards wide and 100 feet high. The motion was that of a ball rolling over and over, not spiral, and it came on rather slowly, perhaps thirty miles an hour. Whatever the ball of cloud struck was lifted right off the ground."

"I saw it pick up house after house between the hill and me, and the cloud seemed to be full of flying boards and timbers. When the ball reached Mrs. C's, the house nearest me, it went straight up off its foundations. The house remained intact until it was about twenty or twenty-five feet from the ground, then it burst open and the fragments flew in all directions. It looked like an exploding bomb. The corn and cotton standing a hundred feet on either side of the storm's path were uninjured, but whenever the cloud struck the higher ground it spread out, covering a wider strip of the surface."

"When the cloud struck me, I went up lightly and easily and the sensation was not unpleasant, but I came down hard and was badly shaken up, although not seriously injured. On the highway north of Sherman fence wires were torn from the posts and pounded into the hard surface of the road a distance of two or three inches."

THE WOMAN WHO FAINTED.

A Lesson on Courtesy in a Crowded London Theater.

Here is an example of the courtesy and good feeling of the twentieth century. How are we to account for it? The worst of it is that in such a case the innocent suffer for the guilty. When a woman does really faint, there will be some hesitation before she receives a seat, consolation and brandy.

In an overcrowded pit of one of the London theaters the other night a lady, who was standing, suddenly became very faint, and another lady sitting near kindly offered her her seat. Not only this, but, seeing that she did not recover quickly, she went and fetched some restoratives from the refreshment room, whereupon the lady quickly recovered and began to thoroughly enter into the spirit of the play, apparently quite oblivious of her benefactress.

As time went on she was asked by her benefactress if she would object to her sitting down again. But the other would none of it. "Now I have a seat I mean to keep it," she replied. Whereupon her benefactress gently reminded her that she had paid for her seat and thought that she had every right to return to it. But no amount of talking would apparently move the former.

A gentleman sitting near, having watched the episode, leaned forward and said, "Do you intend to give up your seat?" "No," was the reply. Up he sprang and gently lifted her out of it. An onlooker said to a lady next to her, "I like that man." "Thank you," was the reply; "he is my husband."

There seems to be no limit to the resources used by some people to secure what they have not paid for. The lady was no more faint than any one else in the audience.—London Free Lance.

The Necessity of Salt.

Although in treaties on dietetics salt figures as a condiment, it is universally recognized to be something more; indeed it is an indispensable element of the food of man and animals. A well known authority asserts, says The Medical Press and Circular, that whenever the annual consumption of salt falls below twenty pounds per head of population the public health is likely to suffer. The deprivation of salt does not produce a definite disease, but reduces the vitality of the organism as a whole, so that the victims of administrative measures which restrict the consumption of salt more readily fall prey to prevailing epidemics, as well as to endemic maladies.

Throw Up the Sponge.

His Loving Spouse (who has been talking for five minutes without a break)—I'd like to know, now, what you've got to say for yourself. When you went down town I told you exactly the kind of bath sponge I wanted, and you wrote it down, and now you bring me this miserable, pitiful, good for nothing. What are you throwing that sponge up in the air for?

PICKING CRANBERRIES ON A NEW JERSEY BOG.

Here is a scene on a New Jersey cranberry bog, showing a group of pickers at work gathering the tart little berries which make such fine sauce for the Thanksgiving turkey. The berries grow on low running vines and are scraped off with the fingers into tin dishes. The pickers work on hands and knees up and down long lanes, which are marked off by means of strings stretched from one side of the bog to the other.

Mining Plant Engulfed.

Joplin, Mo., Nov. 14.—In a cave-in at Orongo, near here, the entire plant of the Aurora Mining company was lost. No lives were lost. The plant comprised a 100-ton mill, office building and engine house, all of which were engulfed, together with six gravel cars and immense tailing pile. On entering the mine a short time before the cave-in occurred workmen heard the timbers cracking and signalled to be hauled up. The last man had reached the surface only a few minutes when the timbers collapsed, the earth yielded, and with a crash the whole plant sank into the abyss.

Ballot Box Stolen.

Columbus, Ga., Nov. 14.—A special from Seale, Russell county, says S. W. Peppers, returning officer for Edward Beat, while en route to Seale with the ballot box containing the returns of the recent election, was held up at point of a revolver and the ballot box taken from him. This is a capital offense in this state.

A DUEL AND A JOKE.

Count Boni de Castellane's First Affair Upon the Field of Honor.

Count Boni de Castellane's first duel was when he had just come from school. And as he was, he could ride, shoot and handle a sword, but he was still very young, very bashful, rather green. At the club to which he had just been admitted some of the men, whom life had made cynical, began to guy him. It was easy to stir up his anger, for they chattered scandal about a woman he knew. He pulled over the table and struck one of the men. The next day he received a challenge. In good faith he selected two good clubmen as his seconds. In all this the club fellows saw only a joke and when the arrangements were hurried and the two opponents stood face to face in a meadow near the Seine the pistols were loaded—with blackened bread crumbs. "One, two, three!" They fired together. The clubman gave a great cry and fell to the ground groaning. "He's fatally wounded—dying!" the seconds exclaimed, choking with laughter.

De Castellane felt the heart in him run away like water. He had killed a man. It was not possible!

"Dead?" he asked anxiously.

"Yes," said the corpse and sat up grinning.

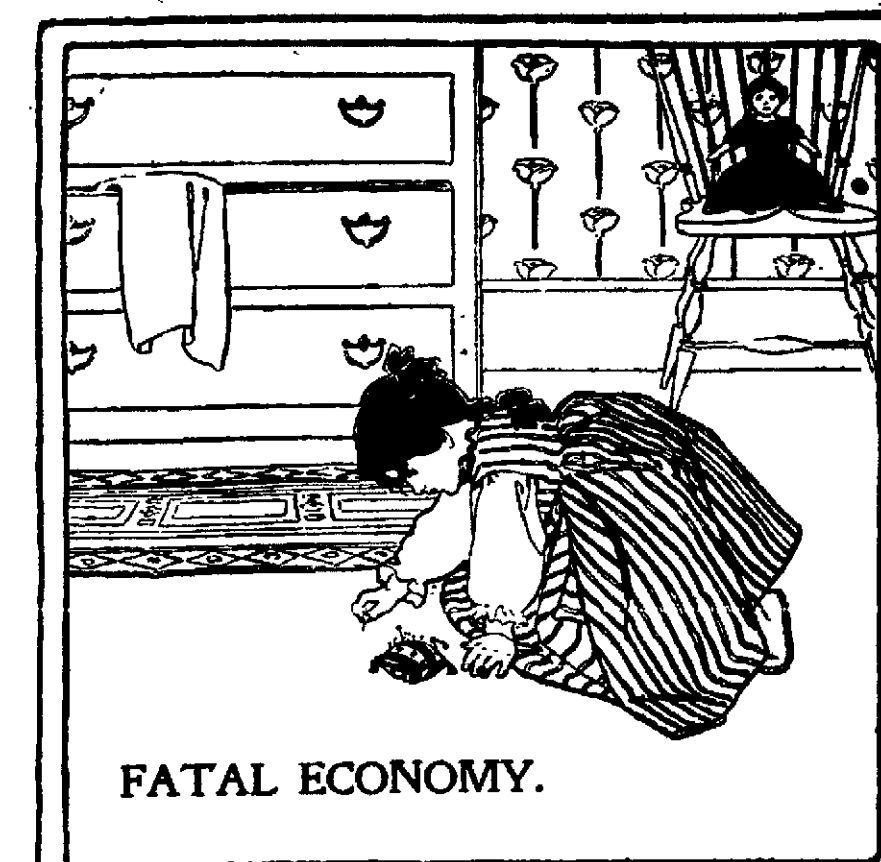

The schoolboy looked at the laughing clubman and saw the joke they had played on him. He stooped and caught the corpse by the ankle, dragged it a bit and with a sudden jerk tossed it ten feet into the river.

"Then I'll bury it," said he.

As the clubman crawled from the river, dripping mud and water, they decided the joke was on him.—Saturday Evening Post.

Winter Stores For Bees.

It is best for bees to have much more honey than they really need to consume when they go into winter quarters, as it will do no harm and may be taken away in spring if the space is needed for brood, says a Vermont beekeeper in Farm and Home. I have had colonies starve with plenty of honey on one side of the hive, while the bees were on the other side and were not able to find it in cold weather. If they had had enough honey on their side of the hive to carry them through, they would have come out strong and in good shape.

FATAL ECONOMY.

VERY old maxim declares that it isn't economy to pick up pins; the time is worth more than the pins. Similarly it is not true economy to do without Ivory Soap; your health requires the daily removal of the bodily excretions which are discharged through the pores of the skin. These tiny mouths must be kept open, and they should be opened only with a pure soap.

Muck Composts.

In the preparation of muck composts, dung or fish is the material commonly used to excite fermentation. Most farmers prefer to make composts in heaps. A common plan is to lay down a bed of muck six or eight feet wide and a foot or so thick and cover it with a layer of dung of somewhat less thickness, followed by another layer of muck, and so on. Different farmers use very different proportions of muck. The ordinary practice seems to vary from one to five parts of muck to one part of dung. Rich dung from stall fed cattle will ferment more muck than that from animals less highly fed. The practical rule is to use no more muck than can be thoroughly fermented by the nature. In the case of sour muck the addition of small amounts of lime or wood ashes will correct the acidity and hasten fermentation.

Selecting a Pig.

Select a pig with the largest even number of teats and the same number on each side, so as to avoid half teats, says a Michigan grower in Farm and Home. I would prefer March pigs. Keep them thirsty, but not fat, so that the last two weeks before coupling the feed can be increased largely. Wean pigs when six to eight weeks old, then feed heavy until coupled, then ease up their gaining until three or four days before time is up. Then feed mostly slop, roots, bran mash and milky food. In selecting a boar the number of teats would be one of the first points.

HIS NOSE WAS SAFE.

But His Nerves Were in a State of Cold Chill Collapse.

"I was sitting on the veranda of a far western hotel one afternoon," said the Boston drummer, "and was lazily smoking one of the nicest meerschaum pipes you ever saw when out of the tail of my eye I saw that a native down at the other end of the veranda had his gun sighted at me. They were a wild lot around there, and I couldn't tell whether he meant to shoot me or the pipe. The chances were in favor of the pipe, however, and it seemed a good chance to test my nerve. I made up my mind to let him shoot and to pretend a careless air, but I'm telling you in the ten or fifteen seconds of waiting the sweat came out at every pore and my heart pounded my ribs sore. I felt a sort of tick at the bowl of the pipe, heard the crack of the gun and knew that the bullet had passed through the pipe. I got a brace with my hands and feet and waited for a second bullet, and it went through the bowl after the first. I sat there until his fourth bullet had hit the pipe and knocked the bowl off the stem, and then the shooter sauntered up to me and laughingly said:

"Excuse me, stranger, but I thought it was imitation."

"Same as you are," I replied. "My gibe hurt him, but he was man enough to tell everybody about my nerve, and the boys chipped in sufficient nuggets to buy me this fifty dollar smoker. Say, do you know what happened to me when I made an excuse to go up stairs after my old corn-cob? I had no sooner got into my room than my knees gave out, chills galloped up my spine, and I'll be hanged if I didn't faint away and lie there for ten minutes. It had suddenly occurred to me that the bowl of that pipe was only six inches from my nose while the fellow was doing his shooting, and I have not yet got over touching my nasal organ now and then to see if it is safe."

INDIAN PRAIRIE DOG HUNTS

The Little Animals Are Deemed a Dainty Dish by the Navajos.

The Navajo Indian, while he cannot be prevailed upon to eat a rabbit, is greedily fond of fat prairie dogs. Large communities of these small animals abound on the western plains, and the Navajo has resorted to many ingenious methods for trapping his coveted dainty. One of them is by the aid of a bit of mirror placed at the entrance to a burrow. When the animal ventures from his bedroom, deep under ground, he sees a familiar image mocking him at the front door, and he hurries out to confront the impudent intruder, when he is pinned to the ground with an arrow.

But the most effective method is what the Indians call the rain hunt. As soon as the steady downpour of summer rains begin every Navajo who can walk repairs to the prairie dog village with hoes, sharp sticks or any digging implement. With these they hollow out trenches that will lead the storm water into as many burrows as possible. Soon a little stream is pouring down each small home, and the inmate, much disturbed, pops out to see what the matter can be. Many of the animals remain under ground until they are drowned, and their bodies float to the surface.

After such a hunt in which many pounds of prairie dogs are generally secured, there is a feast for many days in the Navajo huts.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

OBJECTED

To Removal of Patients to Hospital in South Newark—Six Patients Doing Well.

The Board of Health, in its efforts to stamp out the smallpox in Newark, met with opposition Wednesday night. Mrs. Harvey Jones and three children, have been down with the disease for several days at the corner of Fourth and Locust streets and it was decided to remove all the patients to the pest house Wednesday night. When the officials called at the house they met with strenuous opposition, the head of the family refusing to allow the patients to be removed. Arguments and threats failed to move them and the plan was abandoned for the time being. There are six patients at the pest house and all are doing well.

It is a feature of the worry and hustle of present day living that wakefulness and restlessness begets headache, languor, failing strength, people go at their work in a listless, half-hearted way. Chase's Nerve Pills, the great success of which is attested by residents of Newark.

Mrs. Porterfield of No. 137 Pataskala St. Newark, Ohio, says:—"I was nervous, lacking rest at night and felt miserable. I was told of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills and got some at C. T. Bricker's City Drug Store and they acted finely as a nerve and general tonic. My strength and vigor came back—I sleep well and restfully and am more than pleased with the medicine."

MEMORY'S PRANKS.

Why Do We Remember Certain Things and Forget Others?

The vagaries of memory are some of the most interesting of those connected with the human mind and body. Why do we forget certain things and remember others? Myriads of these irregularities are as yet unaccounted for. Perhaps not even the cleverest metaphysician will ever account for them.

Professor James reminds us how something which we have tried in vain to recall will afterward, when we have given up the attempt, "saunter into the mind," as Emerson says, as innocently as if it had never been summoned.

Again, bygone experiences will revive after years of oblivion, often as the result of some cerebral disease or accident.

Such a case is the one quoted by Coleridge of a young woman in Germany who could neither read nor write, but who was said to be possessed of a devil because, in a fever, she was heard raving in Latin, Greek and in an obscure rabbinical dialect of Hebrew. Whole pages of her talk were written down and were found to consist of sentences intelligible in themselves, but not having the slightest connection with one another. To say that she was possessed of a devil was the easiest way of accounting for the matter.

At last the mystery was cleared up by a physician, who traced back the girl's history until he learned that at the age of nine she was taken to live at the house of an old pastor, a great Hebrew scholar, and that she remained there until the pastor's death. It had been for years the old man's custom to walk up and down a passage near the kitchen and read to himself in a loud voice.

His books were examined, and among them many of the passages taken down at the young woman's bedside were identified. The theory of demoniacal possession was abandoned.—Youth's Companion.

The Time For Planting Bulbs.

There is no definite rule to be laid down as to the length of time in which bulbs should be left in cold storage. As a general thing, top growth will not begin until root growth is completed. This nearly always takes from six weeks to two months. It is therefore generally safe to begin bringing October planted bulbs to the living room in December. Those desired for later flowering can be left in cold storage, where they will remain dormant as to top growth. By bringing bulbs to light and warmth at intervals of a week or ten days we secure a succession of bloom which makes it possible for us to brighten our windows with their beautiful flowers during the greater part of winter.—New Lippincott.

Magnanimity.

It became necessary for an Emworth papa to chastise mildly his small son the other evening. Some time later, wishing to negotiate for a favor, the chastised one stated his wishes and as an inducement added:

"Papa?"
"Well, James?"
"If you'll do this, papa, I'll excuse you for that whipping you gave me."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.
